In addition to the Regular club, the club was also divided into sections for specialized study. These sections held separate luncheons once a month. The section included an Art and Music Section, a Civic Section, a Domestic Arts Section, a Drama and Literature Section, a Garden Section, a Human Relations Section, and a Study Section.

Membership was limited to 100 women. Members had to reside in the Morningside neighborhood (some non-residents who were members before this rule took effect were exempt from this requirement).

Typically each regular club meeting had at least one hostess. The program was set by members of one of the sections. The object of the club was to stimulate intellectual and moral development, to promote good fellowship among its members and to strength their individual effort for humanity by efficient organization.

Regular meetings were held on the fourth Monday of each month at 2:00pm.
